On the behalf of the Indianapolis Opera Board of Directors and the staff, I am excited to announce the details of the Indianapolis Opera's 47th season. After a year of continued programming we are thrilled to return to in-person productions. Our season opens with our 4th annual Opera in the Park performance at Garfield Park. This outdoor concert will feature an all-Indiana line-up of music superstars, including international opera soprano Angela Brown and Maestro Alfred Savia, along with special guests Joshua Thompson and Ganson Salmon.

Then the Opera returns to the stage, opening with Mozart's timeless masterpiece, Don Giovanni. This revival production will include nearly all of the same cast who were to perform in our canceled performance in 2020. We will then finally premiere the historic Indianapolis debut and double bill of Brundibar & Vedem. To close our season and celebrate audience enthusiasm, we will return for our "Opera at the Indianapolis Zoo" outdoor performance beneath the beautiful Bicentennial Pavilion to perform Rodgers & Hammerstein's Carousel.

The ticket subscription period is officially open and we are extending the opportunity for you to become a season subscriber. You have supported the Indianapolis Opera in the past and we would love for you to join us this season!

Please complete the enclosed form or call Indianapolis Opera at 317-283-3531, ext 1004, by August 30 to ensure preferred seating. The final deadline to purchase a subscription is October 31.

With your support, Indianapolis Opera can continue to bring unique and world-class voices, engaging and original productions, and deeply compelling stories to our Hoosier community. Make Indianapolis Opera part of your life!

Sincerely,

David Craig Starkey
General Director
